A. P. Allday &
James A. Johnson by his next friend Alfred L. Benjamin

October 13th 1860.

This day came the parties by their Attorneys and it appearing to the Court that the defendants had been duly served with process, and the defendants Alfred, Victoria, Maldeck Ann, and Lyscarus Johnson heirs of said Willis^d Johnson come into Court by Attorney and make themselves parties plaintiff in the above suit. And by agreement of parties the plaintiffs consent in open Court that the defendant John P. Black have a decree quieting his title to the negro boy Jackson aged about thirteen years being the slave claimed by plaintiffs in this suit, and the defendant John P. Black assumes the payment of all costs. And it appearing to the Court that the defendant Black purchased the negro boy Jackson from S. M. Johnson, and that said S. M. Johnson owned in his own right, and had the possession of said boy Jackson several years before the death of said Willis^d Johnson, and that said Willis^d Johnson disclaimed any interest or claim to said negro boy in his life time and declared that the said negro boy was the property of S. M. Johnson. It is therefore considered by the Court that said plaintiffs take nothing by their suit except costs, and that the said defendant John P. Black have and recover of the said plaintiffs and his co-defendants the negro boy Jackson, a slave for life and that his title be quieted and confirmed. And the defendant John P. Black having assumed the payment of all costs.

John P. Black

It is therefore considered by the Court that the plaintiffs do have and recover of the said defendant John P. Black all costs which have accrued in this cause from the commencement of the same, including the costs heretofore adjudged against the plaintiffs for which Execution may issue. And it is further considered that the order heretofore entered, adjudging costs against the plaintiffs, be and the same is set aside and held for nought.
